Restaurant Vocabulary

A: Good morning. Welcome to Denny's restaurant. Do you have a reservation?

B: Good morning. Yes, we have a reservation under the name of Mr. Caraway. Party of two.

A: That's right. Come this way, please.

A: So, here is the menu. I'll be back in 5 minutes.

B: This restaurant seems to be great. The room is so clean and the waiter so cheerful and welcoming. I'm happy we came here.

C: It is my friend Anna who recommended me this place. She said that the food is mouth-watering. In addition to this, the prices are reasonable.

A: Are you ready to order? Or do you need more time?

B: No, that's okay. We have decided what to have. We will skip the appetizer because we're starving. We will directly start with the main course.

C: I'll have lasagna. I love it with a lot of cheese.

B: I'll order steak with fries.

A: How do you want your steak?

B: I like it well-done.

A: Could I bring you anything else?

B: Well, this is our first time here. So, we don't know about the specials. What do you recommend?

A: I would recommend fish, fresh fish. It's excellent. You will devour it.

C: We will order that. 2 fish dishes, please.

A: Could I get you anything to drink?

B: I'll take lemonade.

C: Water will be fine for me.

A: Great. Everything will be ready in 15 minutes.

C: please, make sure that the food is not salty.

B: So, how is your lasagna?

C: It is divine. It is spicy just as I like. What about your steak?

B: The steak melted in my mouth. However, the fries are cold.

C: Let's taste the fish....Umm, that's delicious. However, I'm almost full. I cannot finish it all.

B: We will ask for a to-go box. We will leave it for tonight's dinner.

A: How do the dishes taste?

B: Everything was delicious, except the cold fries. We have been eaten like horses.

A: Did you leave room for dessert?

C: Oh no ! Lasagna has been enough for me.

B: I'm curious to taste one of your desserts. I would like to order a tiramisu, please.

B: Hum, this dessert is too sweet for me.

C: that's better than my bitter lemonade.

B: That's normal. You have ordered lemonade: it is made up of lemons!

A: May I get you anything else?

B: No, that's everything. We will just need a to-go box for the leftovers.

A: I'll wrap that for you. So, here is the check/bill.

C: Here is the money and keep the change. The food and service of this restaurant are excellent. I will come back soon with my wife. We will become regulars.

A: We are glad to hear that.
